The webpage design for "ReciMe" offers a sleek, user-friendly interface that combines intuitive navigation with dynamic content presentation, allowing users to easily browse, interact with, and explore recipes. Here's a detailed breakdown of its layout:

Header:

- Left Corner: A profile icon is located on the left, which, when clicked, triggers a side menu that slides out from the left side of the page. The side menu offers navigation options for:
 - My Recipes: User's own recipes.
 - Favorites: User's saved or favorite recipes.
 - Search: Search for new recipes.
- Center: The ReciMe logo is prominently displayed in the center of the header.

Main Content:

- User Information: At the top of the main section, the name of the user who published the recipe is displayed, alongside a tag that identifies whether the user is a chef or a certified chef and the name of the recipe's category.
- Recipe Images: Below the user information is a gallery of recipe images. The main image is clear and prominently displayed, with the name of the recipe shown in the bottom-left corner of the picture. Flanking the main image are blurred versions of the adjacent images in the gallery, navigated by arrows. Users can also click on the blurred images to move them into the main display. This allows for an intuitive, visually engaging way to explore the provided recipe images.
- Description and Actions: Below the image gallery, there is a section containing:
 - First Sentence of Description: A preview of the recipe description is displayed, ending with "...", indicating more content is available.
 - Three Buttons:
 - Make a Favorite: Allows users to save the recipe to their favorites.
 - Report/Flag: Users can report inappropriate content.
 - Comment: Opens the comment section for the recipe.

- If users click on either the image or the description preview, a pop-up page will open, overlaying the main content.

Pop-up Page:

- Left Section: Displays the recipe images, similar to the main section.
- Right Section: Shows the full recipe description, including the ingredients and instructions, with the comment section located below.
- Close Button: In the top-right corner of the pop-up is an "X" button that allows users to close the pop-up. When the pop-up is active, the main content of the page (user information, image gallery, buttons) is blurred, though the header remains fully accessible and clickable.

Footer Section:

- Next Recipe Preview: At the bottom of the page, the username of the user who posted the next recipe in the feed (FYP) is displayed. The recipe itself is blurred, and users must swipe down to fully reveal the next post.

This layout ensures easy navigation, clear content presentation, and interactive engagement with the recipe content and user-generated actions.
